

Are there many solar sites in Copenhagen

Overview

Denmark's largest energy community is now under construction, featuring more than 30,000 sqm of solar rooftops with a total capacity of about 4 MW. How does Copenhagen get energy?

Copenhagen also gets energy from shares of biomass (including waste-to-energy systems) and solar (solar photovoltaics and solar thermal). Copenhagen International School features the largest solar facade developed for a building in the world (as of the time it was developed).

Is Copenhagen a smart city?

In the heart of Scandinavia lies Copenhagen, a renewable energy smart city and a beacon of sustainability and innovation—and a global leader in renewable energy smart city development. Copenhagen's climate goals and smart planning make it a leading example of renewable energy integration in cities.

Is Copenhagen a sustainable city?

The City of Copenhagen is making efforts to ensure that most travel in the city is sustainable [read more about the city's efforts below - in the Sustainable Transit in Copenhagen section].

What makes Copenhagen a good city?

Copenhagen holds its buildings to high standards of energy efficiency, and new developments often include green roofs, solar panels, and rainwater harvesting systems. The city's Nordhavn district, for example, is a model of a climate-resilient and smart neighborhood, built with circular economy principles in mind. 7.
