

Battery cabinet automated assembly production line

Overview

This customized production line is mainly used to complete the assembly, testing, and welding functions of the square shell energy storage lithium battery pack module. This semi-automatic line package includes manual feeding, cell scanning, automatic sorting, automatic flipping, automatic gluing, manual stacking, automatic extrusion, manual bundling, manual barcode scanning, binding, automatic polarity detection, automatic pole cleaning, manual placement of busbars, automatic laser welding, manual welding point detection, total pressure internal resistance testing of semi-finished products, manual offline, and automatic up and down reflux of empty trays. What is a battery assembly line?

A battery assembly line is a system that puts together different parts of a battery, like cells, tabs and modules, into a complete unit. It uses machines, robots and automation to handle tasks like stacking cells, welding connections and running safety checks.

Is your battery assembly line ready for the future?

When you integrate flexibility into your mechanical design from the start, your battery assembly line is ready for the future and can scale with minimal disruption. Controls engineering transforms your battery assembly line from automated to intelligent.

How does a battery pack assembly line work?

A battery pack assembly line involves several key steps to ensure the final product is safe, high-performing, and ready for use. Here's a breakdown of the main operations: Cell Testing and Sorting: The first step is to test and sort the battery cells. Only the best-performing cells move forward to ensure high-quality output.

Why is battery assembly important?

In the competitive world of electric vehicles and energy storage, efficient and precise battery assembly is crucial for meeting high performance and safety standards. At JOT Automation, we provide cutting-edge solutions for battery module assembly and battery pack assembly, ensuring seamless integration and optimized production.
