

Financing for Fast Charging of Solar Storage Containers in the Middle East

Overview

What is the potential for energy storage in Saudi Arabia?

The potential for energy storage in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia (KSA) is significant, given the country's abundant resources and growing demand for energy. With a rapidly expanding population and economy, KSA is facing increasing energy demand.

How can governments support energy storage development in the GCC region?

The governments in the GCC region could collaborate with energy storage developers to introduce favorable regulations and provide capital investments to support the development of a utility-scale energy storage market and eliminate the financing risk and uncertainty factor for the projects by providing long-term contracts through auctions.

Does the UAE have energy storage systems in the GCC region?

The UAE has installed most of the energy storage systems in the GCC region. In 2016, Abu Dhabi Water & Electricity Authority announced the deployment of around 108 MW of sodium-sulfur-based BESS with an individual capacity of around 4 MW and 8 MW at different locations to support their distribution network.

How can GCC countries boost the development of residential solar?

In GCC countries, to boost the development of residential solar, the customers are offered remuneration for the amount of electricity that is fed back into the grid at a specific time. Hence, this kind of scheme and incentives might need to be revised to cater to the development and growth of the residential energy storage market.
