Overview

Most homeowners need between 15-25 solar panels to power their entire home, but this number varies significantly based on your energy usage, location, and roof characteristics. How many solar panels do you need to power a house?

The goal for any solar project should be 100% electricity offset and maximum savings — not necessarily to cram as many panels on a roof as possible. So, the number of panels you need to power a house varies based on three main factors: In this article, we'll show you how to manually calculate how many panels you'll need to power your home.

How many solar panels do you need for a 3KW Solar System?

You can see that you need 10 300-watt solar panels to construct a 3kW solar system. If you don't get the full number of solar panels (you get 15.67, for example), just round it up (to 16 in this case). You can do this calculation by hand or using a hand calculator.

How do I calculate how many solar panels I Need?

You can calculate how many solar panels you need by dividing your yearly electricity usage by your area's production ratio and then dividing that number by the power output of your solar panels. To put it simply: Number of panels = annual electricity usage / production ratio / panel wattage.

How much power does a 3000 watt solar battery use?

That could mean as much as 3 times the daily power needs. If your daily energy use is 1,000Wh, a battery with 3,000Wh capacity will last you three days. To fill 3,000Wh in one day from solar panels, you need ~720W of solar panels.  $3,000\text{Wh} / 5 \text{ hours} \times 1.2 \text{ buffer} = 720\text{W}$ .
