

Kathmandu Photovoltaic Container Wind-Resistant Type

Overview

Are solar and wind power plants possible in Nepal?

Possibility of solar and wind power plants Our study highlights that Nepal has an abundant resource of solar energy (i.e., up to 47,628 MW) and a relatively lower potential for wind energy (i.e., up to 1686 MW) compared to that of other developing countries (e.g., Bangladesh [10] and India [11]).

What is Nepal's solar and wind energy development?

We categorize Nepal's solar and wind energy development in four phases. Nepal can harness up to 47,628 MW of solar and 1,686 MW of wind energy. The Annapurna Conservation Area has more than 60% of Nepal's wind energy potential. Energy policies need to go beyond small-scale systems to utilize these potentials.

Does Nepal provide subsidies for solar and wind energy?

For these renewable energies, Nepal provides subsidies for small-scale home and institutional systems but not commercial-scale plants. To attract the private sector in solar and wind energy generation, Nepal needs to establish appropriate incentives, including tax offsetting policies for utility and commercial-scale solar and wind power plants.

How is solar and wind energy potential analyzed in Nepal?

Thus, we have carried out a spatial and economic analysis of solar and wind energy potential at the provincial level for the first time in Nepal. Our analysis is built upon the spatial energy modeling based on technical, geographical, and economic suitability criteria, utilizing open-source geographical information system platforms.
