Overview

---

Why do we need a Bess Solar System in Nepal?

Integrating BESS into PV systems allows for storing excess energy generated during daylight hours for use during periods of low sunlight or high energy demand. Nepal has great potential for the implementation of solar energy technology, due to its high levels of solar radiation and roughly 300 days of sun per year.

How can Nepal improve energy security?

Nepal's energy sector mainly depends on hydropower, which can be affected by natural and seasonal variations. To improve energy security and diversify its energy sources, the government has set goals to increase the use of solar and other renewable energy technologies in power generation.

Can battery energy storage systems be integrated into PV systems?

However, PV generation is intermittent and variable due to the diurnal cycle of solar geometry and weather conditions. Battery energy storage systems (BESS) integrated into PV systems can address these challenges by storing energy for later use.

Is a solar PV system more profitable than a Bess system?

The result shows PV system has a higher NPV and IRR than the PV with the BESS system, indicating that it is more profitable and attractive for investment. However, the PV with BESS system can become more competitive and viable in the long run if the battery cost decreases.
