Overview

Are bifacial solar panels better than monofacial panels?

The technology behind solar panels continues to evolve and improve. Manufacturers are now able to produce bifacial panels, which feature energy-producing solar cells on both sides of the panel. With two faces capable of absorbing sunlight, bifacial solar panels can be more efficient than traditional monofacial panels – if used appropriately.

Are bifacial solar panels right for You?

Unlike traditional monofacial panels, which capture sunlight on one side, bifacial panels are equipped to absorb light on both their front and back sides, offering a new level of efficiency and innovation. However, they aren't the right fit for every situation. Here's a closer look at bifacial solar panels, their benefits, and where they shine.

Do bifacial solar panels produce more energy?

Bifacial solar modules use both sides of the panel to produce energy. Manufacturers say that bifacial solar panels can generate up to 30% more energy than monofacial panels. Great news for those with limited roof space. Most bifacial panels are frameless and covered by tempered glass on both sides.

How do bifacial solar panels work?

Traditional solar panels, known as monofacial panels, only use one side of the module for this process. The light that isn't absorbed by the panel is reflected away. Bifacial solar panels are different. These types of panels have solar cells on both sides, enabling them to absorb light from the front and the back.
