Overview

What is battery management system (BMS)?

Battery Management System (BMS) is the “intelligent manager” of modern battery packs, widely used in fields such as electric vehicles, energy storage stations, and consumer electronics.

Why do lithium batteries need a BMS?

The BMS prevents your lithium battery’s voltage from going too high (causing overheating and gas release) or too low (leading to permanent damage). Damage occurs if you overcharge (cell voltage gets too high) or over-discharge (cell voltage gets too low) a lithium-ion battery cell. Overcharging occurs when recharging exceeds a battery’s safe range.

How do battery management systems work?

Battery management system (BMS) is technology dedicated to the oversight of a battery pack, which is an assembly of battery cells, electrically organized in a row x column matrix configuration to enable delivery of targeted range of voltage and current for a duration of time against expected load scenarios.

What are the different BMS architectures for a battery system?

Different battery systems call for different BMS architectures: Centralized: Single controller handles all cell data Distributed: Module-level sensors report to a central unit Modular: Smart modules manage subsets of the battery independently Sensors: Voltage, current, temperature Microcontroller (MCU): BMS “brain” for logic and data processing
